South Bay approves expansion

SOUTH BAY — At the request of Zoning Board Chairman Byron Walker, city commissioners approved surveys studies which will lead to the expansion of the city limits.

Walker said the city has received numerous requests for annexation by land owners outside the city limits including Billy Rogers Farms Inc. The Rogers request is for a portion of agricultural land northeast of the city.

"I can see any other reason for the request unless he (Rogers) plans to build some houses there," said Walker. The Zoning Board Chairman said the city will extend its boundaries in all four directions, however no decision has been made about how much land will be annexed.

"South Bay is growing, and we need more room. We have built on just about every available piece of land in the city," said Walker. A city can annex new land at the request of a property owner or by referendum said Walker. There is also a provision in annexation laws which allows the city to pass a piece of property while annexing adjacent property he said. Walker said the city may be able to pass a public hearing on annexation.

The Zoning Board chairman said he hopes to present final annexation plans to the city commission within 90 days.

Walker said the procedure for annexation is to map the property to be annexed and refer the map to the zoning board for approval. Then an engineering firm must draw up a legal description of the property.

Following the approval of the annexation request, Walker asked the commission to create a city Board of Adjustments to mediate between the zoning board and commission when there are disagreements on zoning requests.

Commissioner O'Neal Walker said he could see advantages to the suggestions but questioned whether the Board of Adjustments would be created as a "quasi-judicial branch of the city government" similar to the city courts.

Adam, an eighteen month old registered German Shepherd, began training only twelve weeks ago under the guidance of Bob Wummer, director of the Riviera Beach K-9 training school. Wummer also works with the Riviera Beach police department where he has already trained five police dogs for Chief Boone Dardas.

Before graduating, Adam's master, Larry Austin of the Belle Glade police department, put the dog through his paces at the Riviera Beach Police K-9 training range.

Adam shone like a star. Obeying every command, he ran the obstacle course which included a chain link fence, a metal sewer pipe and a 7 1/2 foot wood barrier. As a climax, he jumped through a ring of fire.

Friday's demonstration was the finale of "12 hard weeks of training for me and Adam, but I'd do it all again," said Austin. Austin's wife Bonnie said she was skeptical about Adam at the beginning. Now she is enthusiastic about the K-9 program. "I was deathly afraid of dogs when we first got Adam, but now I wish I could be a trainer too," Bonnie commented.

K-9 trainer Wummer was just as enthusiastic. "Adam is stronger in obedience than any of the Riviera police dogs during the training period. I'd say he is Number 1. But the master is important too. Larry did a fine job."

Belle Glade Public Safety Director, Charles Goodlett, was a guest at the ceremonies. "Adam is a fine dog. He acted as a pro after three weeks of training. If the program is successful, we hope to add another dog," said Goodlett.

Goodlett said the city has already refused an offer to sell Adam for $10,000. He is a pup "sight unseen" for $1,500 from an Orlando dealer.

Adam has a "dual personality," explained Austin. Under normal circumstances he is gentle enough to play with children. But when given special signals, Adam will attack. "This is why obedience is stressed during training. A police dog obeys all voice and hand signals. To demonstrate Adam's obedience, Austin commands Adam to halt as he chases a 'bank robber'." The dog stops immediately. "We want to see that Adam is not just an attack dog. He will only attack when I order him to, and will halt the moment I give the signal," Austin said.

Herald editor receives award

Belle Glade Herald editor Dean Jones won one of two media awards for informing the public about agriculture during the past year at the annual meeting Tuesday of the Agri-business Institute of Florida in Orlando.

The plaque was awarded by the Institute, "for faithful reporting of news about agribusiness to the lasting benefit of both Florida agriculture and the general public."

An Institute spokesman said the nomination for the award came specifically as a result of a series of articles and editorials dealing with a proposed land swap which still hasn't been resolved.

Should the transaction be approved by the Florida Cabinet, the state would receive $2.5 million in exchange for leasing land in the south part of the county, including a part of Holey Land, to U.S. Sugar Corp and Gulf & Western.

The spokesman said the coverage provided by The Herald was an intelligent and clear reporting of a complex subject.

The Institute annually presents a Media Award and Secretary William Deitenbeck said two Media Awards were presented this year because the awards committee couldn't make up its mind between Jones and the other recipient, Bob Bobroff, agriculture writer for the Orlando Sentinel Star.

"Bobroff received his award after faithful reporting of news about agribusiness to the lasting benefit of both Florida agriculture and the general public."

Bobroff was specifically cited for a series of articles he wrote concerning the citrus industry.

The Institute's annual "White Hat" Award was presented by Institute President Robert Lee to Riley S. Miles of the Florida Water Users Association, "for leadership, wisdom and guidance on matters crucial not just to the agricultural community but to all people of Florida and the nation."

The Agribusiness Institute was formed in 1970 in order to provide better communications between the industry and the public.

Lee, vice president of U.S. Sugar Corp. in Clewiston, was elected president of the Institute during the annual meeting, held in Belle Glade last year, and was re-elected for a second consecutive term Tuesday in Orlando.

Lee urged the agribusiness men to support the concept of free trade area in several places in the state, commenting they would go with the growth of Florida as the great point of entry from the Caribbean and South and Central America.

City plans re-vamp of purchasing procedure

When Public Works Director Cliff Burgess resigned December 12, he told the Herald that Belle Glade was paying too much for chemicals and other items.

As a result of some city purchasing policies. Now Belle Glade city manager George Knoblock has said he plans to remedy these abuses by instituting a policy of bulk purchasing and competitive bidding wherever possible.

Knoblock said the city pays "excessive prices" as a result of past purchasing policies. One example is in chemical purchases. He said he has requested aid from a large chemical company to "identify" the various chemicals used by the city. He has also requested suppliers who now service the city to analyze the type and quantity of chemicals they sell to the city.

Once this survey is completed, Knoblock said he and Public Works Department supervisor Ron Snyder will go over the list of the chemicals to determine which can be purchased in bulk shipments.

The city manager emphasized that bid will go to suppliers throughout the state, not just local companies.

Although Knoblock was critical of past buying procedures, he said no local supplier received an unfair share of city business.

Since arriving in Belle Glade, the city manager said he has met opposition to some new policies. In November two superintendents in the public works department quit to protest a policy requiring supervisors to check prices at three stores by telephone before making purchases over $100.

Although the two superintendents charged they were forced to get bids on a 57 item, both Burgess and Knoblock denied the allegations. Burgess produced written directives which said the phone bids were only required for items over $100.

One of the items Burgess referred to when he said the city was paying too much is pebble lime which is used in the city water department. The Belle Glade commission voted unanimously to purchase the pebble lime from Glades Feed and Supply Co. of Belle Glade at $48.19 per ton rather than from Dixie Lime and Pebble Co. of Ocala for $47.69. Even though the difference is only $.50 per ton, a purchase of 1,100 tons as the bid specified means a difference of $550.

Commissioner Ralph Kirk told the Herald he voted for the higher bid because he thought at the time the difference would be about $100. He said he wanted to support local businesses who pay taxes in the city.

"I learned later from Burgess there was a sizeable difference in price. If I had realized we would pay $50 more, I would have voted for the lower bid," Kirk said.

The commissioner said "99 out of 100 purchases we make" are from the low bidder, however. He said there are times when he favors paying more for a better quality item though.

"You get what you pay for. An LTD and a Pinto are both Fords, but there is a difference," Kirk commented.

The commissioner said he favors bulk purchases as long as the material will not deteriorate and there is adequate storage space.

Although state laws require competitive bids on all purchases over $1,000, the city does not bid some materials even though the total cost is over $1,000 because no single purchase is for $1,000.

Burgess said the city purchases weed killer on an installment basis even though it could be bought cheaper in bulk.

One example is Dow Pon which the city buys at $65 per 45 gal. container from Glades Feed and Supply Co. Although this is the going retail price for Dow Pon, a representative of one local chemical supplier said savings could be made by purchasing large quantities.

Frank Anderson city finance director, said there are no clear-cut rules governing when a large purchase can be divided into smaller installments. He said installment purchases should not be used to avoid the bid requirements of the city charter, however.

"The main thing I keep in mind when purchasing is to get the best price for the city and I'm sure other department heads do the same," said the Finance Director.

Alleys present a "trashy" problem

A stroller down one of the alleys behind the shops on Avenue A might easily mistake the city dump for the city alley. Trash covers the ground around half-filled garbage dumpsters in some places.

This is not a new problem according to businessmen along the alley. "It's been going on for years and years," said Randy Davidson, owner of Cabin Cleaners, 240 Ave. A. Davidson has erected a barrier of metal drums behind his building to keep trash from blowing onto his property.

"Sometimes you don't feel like trying to keep your own place clean when everything else is such a mess," said Davidson.

Two months ago Davidson took the trash problem to the city commission. The commissioners told him they "realize there is a bad trash problem" and authorized another trash dumpster for the alley. But the new dumpster hasn't remedied the situation. Although the new container was only half full this Tuesday morning, shoe trash on the ground. Jode said he recently moved into the store and is upset about the mess. Mattari said he wants the new dumpster removed from his lot because he said other people throw trash to the alley.

Bernard Lee of Dave's Palm Beach Shop, on the next block, said the alley behind his store is littered with trash too. Lee said he hires a private maintenance man to keep the area around his store clean. Lee shares one city dumpster with a neighboring liquor store. His half of the bill is $39 per month.

Davidson said the trash was not as bad as usual Tuesday since the alley itself was clear even though the lots behind the stores were full of litter. "They used to tickle people for leaving trash on the ground but not anymore," said Davidson who said he grew up in the apartment above Cabin Cleaners.

Armi Jode and Hassan Mattari, owners of two stores just east of Cabin Cleaners, say they don't know who dumps trash on the ground. Jode said he recently moved into the store and is upset about the mess. Mattari said he wants the new dumpster removed from his lot because he said other people throw trash to the alley.

Bernard Lee of Dave's Palm Beach Shop, on the next block, said the alley behind his store is littered with trash too. Lee said he hires a private maintenance man to keep the area around his store clean. Lee shares one city dumpster with a neighboring liquor store. His half of the bill is $39 per month.

Roy Poling, supervisor of the Belle Glade Sanitation Department, said the city has fallen behind on commercial trash pick-up for the last eight weeks because of breakdowns in one of the hydraulic lift trucks. However Poling said a new truck was purchased by the city for $40,373.29 which will be ready for use next week. It will replace one of the present trucks. Poling said the alley dumpsters will be emptied 3 times each week.

Poling said his department will "get tougher" with those who litter the alley's once full service is resumed. "We couldn't say anything while we were behind in service, but now we take people to court from now on," said the Sanitation Department superintendent.

Poling said those who put trash in the alley may be charged under Chapter 13-4 of the Belle Glade City Code which forbids deposit of garbage or refuse anywhere except in approved receptacles. Poling said there may be other city ordinances which can be invoked too.

Voter Registration

Saturday is the deadline for glades residents to register to vote in the second Florida Presidential Primary on Mar. 8, Palm Beach County Supervisor of Elections Jackie Winchester warned this week.

Belle Glade and South Bay residents may register at South Bay City Hall and the Palm Beach County Glades Office Building. The Glades Office Building will be open for registrants from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Anyone who is a U.S. citizen, 18 years of age or older and is a resident of Palm Beach County may register for the upcoming primary.

Jackie Winchester said. Once the books are closed at 5 p.m. Saturday, they won't be re-opened until after the primary.

Question of the Week

Do you think the city of Belle Glade should purchase supplies and services from local businesses even if the cost is higher? Where would you draw the line at price differences?

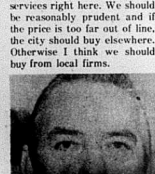

Willard Taylor

There are some items such as heavy equipment which it makes sense to purchase locally because they can be serviced right here. We should be reasonably prudent and if the price is too far out of line, the city should buy elsewhere. Otherwise I think we should buy from local firms.

Arlene Lowery

I think the city should patronize local stores unless there is a big difference in price.

Jim Leeman

I favor local business, but I think they should have to compete against other companies for city business.

Clyde Parrish

former Belle Glade Mayor
I would favor buying from local firms, but I would draw the line at 5 percent price difference.

S.W. McAllister

The city should be willing to buy from local firms for a little more but not too much. That's the way I do my personal buying too.

Fred John

I am in favor of buying from local firms because local businesses and residents support the city with tax money. There is a place to draw the line, but I can't give a definite figure. It would take some study.

South Bay policeman beaten in front of bar Saturday

SOUTH BAY — A city policeman was kicked and beaten in front of a local bar as he attempted to take four juveniles into custody last Saturday night.

Patrolman Clarence Cooper said he was placing the juvenile assault suspects in his patrol car when one suspect started swinging at him. Cooper said a crowd of at least seven other persons converged on him while the juveniles escaped. He was helped after the incident by two unidentified persons.

Deputies from the Palm Beach Sheriff's Department arrived at the Green Front Bar, 185 N.W. 10th St., after receiving a report of the incident.

The investigation has been turned over to the Sheriff's Department. Although no arrests have been made, at least two adults are reported to have taken part in the assault on Cooper.

The four juvenile suspects were later arrested. South Bay police chief Willie Wrisper said Cooper will be reinstated to the day shift once he recovers from injuries. The chief said steps would be taken to assure proper back up for city patrolmen.

The city department was cut last year from eight to six men in order to reduce expenditures. Since then two other patrolmen have resigned leaving only four officers including Chief Wrisper.

The Palm Beach County Sheriff's Department is slated to take over dispatching for the South Bay Police Department this week. When the change-over is completed, callers will reach the Belle Glade Sheriff's sub-station when they telephone the South Bay police number.

"I don't care where I am as long as I'm picking" — Cal Smith

The Country Bumpkin came to Belle Glade Saturday night in spite of chilly winds but Belle Glade didn't make the return trip.

Nashville singer Cal Smith made his performance in Belle Glade the last of a three-stop Florida tour and sat talking in his private bus while waiting to perform for a crowd of less than 100 who gathered to hear him and several supporting performers.

Smith is the Country and Western performer who was awarded trophies for Song of the Year, Single of the Year and Album of the Year for 1974 with his recording of Country Bumpkin, the name he's become associated with since then.

Smith got his start in 1947, at the age of 15, by posing as the dummy in a bull whip and knife throwing act. Since then, he's "paid his dues" in the entertainment industry before climbing to the top two years ago.

He said that first job gave him experience but the pay came later when he began making $150 a night, plus meals, to begin his singing career. He said his aunt had earlier taught him the chords of "Walkin' the Floor Over You" and he played it until his dad got tired of hearing it.

He said Ernest Tubb, the original singer of that song, gave him his first real break in 1962, when he took him on a road tour.

Since then, he has stayed on the road an average of 200 days a year. He began making recordings in 1963 but had to wait until 1968 for his first hit, "Drinking Champagne."

"There were a lot of times," he reminisced of those days, "when I didn't know where my next meal was coming from."

He said that way meant the most to him was to pull up to a night club or auditorium and see the crowd. He said he comes to life when the crowd is watching.

When Smith asked one Glades resident if he had ever met Mel Tillis and was assured that was the case, he commented that he and Tillis are good friends but that didn't help him last year in Pahokee. He said he was driving from Miami to an engagement in Okeechobee and was going through Pahokee, or "Tillis Town" as he called it, when he was stopped.

"I asked him if he knew Mel too," Smith said, "and he said he knew him very well so I told him Mel and I were good friends back in Nashville."

"Then the patrolman handed me the ticket. Mel's got no pull in his town," he said. "There's nobody in Nashville who doesn't like Mel Tillis," he went on. He helps everybody out. Nashville folks are a close knit group. When you're in the most to him was to pull up to a night club or auditorium and see the crowd. He said he comes to life when the crowd is watching.

Smith said he went to Tokyo, Japan in 1970 to entertain U.S. servicemen there. "That was really an experience," he said. "The bands learn the songs from listening to the record, so if your singing in a different key than the day you recorded it, it can sometimes be hard to work it out."

"But even though they don't mention the words, they love Country Music. In fact, they named July Cal Smith month in Tokyo."

Japan wasn't the only foreign country Smith mentioned, too. He said Country Bumpkin is almost a million seller in Australia and a big hit in South Africa. Smith, along with several other country singers, are in the process of working out the details of an overseas tour.

From overseas plans, Smith was jerked back to Belle Glade by a rapping on the door of his $150,000 bus, where he found a fan from Okeechobee who wanted to see to Number One Country Bumpkin.

When he found the man was carrying a bottle, however, Smith told him he'd have to leave the bottle outside or he wouldn't be able to come in.

He said he doesn't drink but the main reason for the "no liquor or drugs" policy is because he said small town police have been known to look for reasons to arrest touring performers and confiscate their buses.

He said Ray Price, another top country performer, lost his bus once when a band member's stash of marijuana was discovered on board.

He said Price had to pay $30,000 in a public auction to buy back his bus, and that was besides the delay and embarrassment.

By that time, local disc jockey Simon Train had finished warming up the crowd and Smith stepped out of his bus to meet his fans. And if the weather was cold, they weren't.

Zoning request denied

SOUTH BAY—The city commission denied a request for a zoning variance to a resident who built an addition to his home without obtaining a city building permit and without conforming to zoning set back regulations.

Attorney Thomas Montgomery, representing Lawrence Roker of S.W. 10th St., requested the variance on the basis of allegations that two former city commissioners, who were in office at the time, told his client the addition was approved.

Commissioner Vernita Cox came out in favor of the variance request because she said the addition was no closer to the street than other structures on S.W. 10th St.

Mrs. Cox said it was unfair to force Roker to tear down the house when the city has not strictly enforced zoning laws in the past.

He said Price had to pay $30,000 in a public auction to buy back his bus, and that was besides the delay and embarrassment.

By that time, local disc jockey Simon Train had finished warming up the crowd and Smith stepped out of his bus to meet his fans. And if the weather was cold, they weren't.

Speeders Beware

Speeders beware. The Belle Glade police force will be out with their radar gun on N.W. 1st Street beginning this week said Public Safety Director Charles Goodlett. According to Goodlett, motorists are driving to fast through neighborhood streets west of the SR80 construction. Despite appearances, Belle Glade's new police dog, Adam, is not scratching Patrolman Larry Austin's back. He is using Austin as a hurdle during K-9 graduation ceremonies in Riviera Beach.

"Searching and tracking is what he loves. He eats it up," Austin said. Adam's most important contribution may be the psychological effect he has on would-be criminals. "If thieves know they will get caught, many will just stop trying," Austin said. On the other hand, the Patrolman plans to introduce Adam around Belle Glade to assure residents Adam is not dangerous. "Without community support, a K-9 program won't work," he explained. Assistant Belle Glade Police Chief Bill Mathis said the department is still working on guidelines for Adam, however Mathis said Adam would begin duty by midweek. "It's hard to say how valuable Adam will be at this point, but I am very optimistic that he will be an asset to the police force," Mathis commented. Adam and Austin have been assigned to the department's Burglary Tactical Unit along with Sgt. Louis Lowrey and Patrolman Tim Corderman. The police department recently purchases a "night viewing system" for which enables the FBI to survey high crime areas at night. Although Adam has completed the K-9 course, he will return to the Riviera Beach K-9 range every Friday to reinforce his training.

Up with agriculture!

Newspaper and other media always like to say they, "tell it like it is" to their readers, viewers and listeners but sometimes people feel they have to form groups to make sure their point of view gets across to the public.

Such is the case of the Agribusiness Institute of Florida, a group of businessmen dealing with agriculture who don't feel the farming story is being told to the Florida citizen-at-large.

There was some comment at the Institute's annual meeting in Orlando Tuesday about people who say they're not anti-agriculture and the comment was heard that many people say it but don't mean it.

Agri-culture is certainly the largest story in the Glades...to the point that anything else seems almost a side story at times, and farming certainly deserves full and complete coverage.

We all have a vested interest in the farmers of this country in general, and of the Glades in particular. Besides providing employment for virtually everyone out here, either directly or indirectly, we all eat and wear clothing.

That last is why we don't believe anyone is ever going to be overheard saying, "I'm against agriculture." That would be like saying they're against Mom and apple pie or for pollution and crime in the streets.

Try to run for Congress or any other public office on that platform and nobody would vote for it.

But the fact remains that while no one is anti-agriculture, there are still enough people who think they should be able to throw obstacles in the farmer's path, pay him next to nothing for the food and fiber he raises and still expect enough production to feed whatever the population needs...and then contribute free of charge enough food to feed the world's hungry.

Just as there are always Congressmen in plenty who say they're against violent crime and then make things easy on the criminal...or say they're against deficit spending, then pass bills designed to bankrupt the country.

And that's why the Agribusiness Institute was formed. And that's why we're pretty proud of the award we received during their meeting.

After all, someone has to tell the farmer's story.

Yes Virginia, there is a Montana....

There's a rumor going around these days the state of Montana doesn't exist. "Have you ever been to Montana?" the rumor mongers ask. Since your answer is probably no to both questions, the seeds of doubt are planted in your mind.

But did you ever wonder who started this rumor? After reading several articles on the subject by Steve Mitchell of the Palm Beach Post, I believe I have solved the mystery.

It came to me as I read a letter, published in Mitchell's column, by the governor of Montana. The governor described the exquisite scenery, the wonderful recreation facilities, the low taxes, and the excellent opportunities for business and retirement in Montana. It sounded just like a brochure.

All of a sudden it came to me! The rumor must have been started by the governor himself, probably with the aid of the state legislature and the Montana Chamber of Commerce.

Think of it this way. How many people think of Montana when they plan to start a business or retire? To most of us, Montana is a place where western movies take place.

Unless you happen to be a resident of the state, you probably don't even think of Montana more than once or twice a year.

What better way to get everyone's attention than by starting a rumor Montana doesn't exist. Even better, get it in the newspapers. Then you can write a letter to the editor denying the rumor and describing just how wonderful Montana really is.

What better place to extoll the virtues of Montana's tourist and retirement opportunities than in South Florida.

I'm sure the governor's "rebuttal" varies in each region to fit the particular market. In New York I'll bet his letter mentions the "sound fiscal policy" and "natural" environment of Montana. In the industrial mid-west cities, the letter probably talks about the "excellent business opportunities" within easy reach of the "pollution-free countryside."

Unless I miss my guess, the rumor should pop up next in Saudi Arabia and other OPEC nations. Naturally the governor will refer to "reliable sources" who have predicted major oil discoveries in Montana.

The only question remaining is whether the columnist who repeated this rumor is a dupe or a willing accomplice of the state of Montana. Much as I hate to say it, I have discovered what appears to be irrefutable evidence he is the latter.

After months of research, long distance phone calls, I have discovered the truth.

Mitchell has spoken so often of this that I almost overlooked the one obvious conclusion. Yes folks, Steve Mitchell is a native Montanan. The evidence, his Montana birth certificate, is at this very moment securely hidden in a safety deposit box at one of our local banks.

When I think of how close this man came to succeeding with his plan I shudder.

Sorry to blow your cover Steve, but you know how it is when you need an idea for a column.

CRACKER CRUMBS

BY DEAN JONES

Breaker Two Oh! How about that break at the marina Saturday?

Went out there to the Aubrey Farmer Pavilion Saturday to eyeball a few of the voices I've been hearing on the ol' CB and darned if that wasn't an education. There must've been 350 to 400 bucketmouths out there on the side, wolfin' down fish and corn on the cob, sippin' suds, dancin' and tellin' tall tales that wouldn't wait.

Matter of fact, there were so many ratched jaws out there at the marina, I didn't figger there could've been more than about three or four left within radiic range. That was a definite negatory.

Stepped out of the pavilion and ducked into Red Bird's nest on wheels to get out of the wind and darned if he wasn't wall to wall with traffic on the local channel. There must've been another hundred or so cluttering up the airways.

Guess it just goes to show how many Japanese toys and truckers' joys there are in the Belle Glade area.

The weather wasn't the best for a fish fry I've ever seen either. Got out there at about 9 a.m. and that wind was some kind of chilly but there were already quite a few good buddies out there ready to shuck corn and get everything started.

And along sometime in the afternoon, there were CB'ers showing up from Loxahatchee, West Palm Beach, all around the Lake, and on up from Fort Lauderdale and My Oh My.

The way things were going, I wouldn't have been too surprised to see 'em start coming out of state but if they did, I don't know about that. They did come in from as far away as Tampa though and had the appropriate handles of Rambling Man and Lady Ramblin'.

I've seen fewer radio antennas on a fleet of Russian trawlers.

The break even had live entertainment...the form of Southern Gentlemen and we had a real old down home kind of hoodwink that night; didn't care if it got down below zero.

A couple of people in from Miami said we really knew how to give a break. Said that down there, their breaks usually consist of sippin' coffee and gossipin' shop talk.

Guess the CB'ers in the Glades are just too ignorant to realize something like that. We wanta get together over a cup of black water and talk, we can do that any day of the week at any restaurant in town...or any CB'ers home - 20.

If we want a break, it must be your garden variety, common Glades run of the mill ignorance that makes us think that if we're gonna have a real break, there oughta be something besides coffee and gab.

Matter of fact, it was a pretty big job getting ready during the morning and early afternoon but I didn't hear anybody complaining about it after it was all over in the wee hours of the mornin on Sunday.

The Cracker Crumbs; he's down on the side, 10-10 and listening in. Bye-bye.

Hey, just saw a pretty darn good idea for all of you guys looking for some kind of special Valentine for your sweeties.

Sure, it's a good four weeks away and maybe you ain't looking yet but if you're the kind who does want buying something, how about a giant Valentine Day card with the postmark of Loveland?

Seems there's a town by that name out in Colorado and they came up with the gimmick some time ago. They came up with a monstrosity that measures two by three feet and they mail it in envelopes with a Cupid and a love poem on the outside envelope.

Matter of fact, they go almost beyond belief (or caring, since it's just about gone past the ridiculous to the sublime) with the name, Cupid's Rendezvous.

I've heard of leaving your heart in San Francisco but sending it from Loveland? How ridiculous can you get?

Don't cry wolf-quakes pollute more than man

In the myths destroyed but suspicious confirmed department, we received a reprint of a reprint of an article last week we decided might make a good fourth generation reprint on pollution.

Man the Polluter is responsible for all this dirty air, filthy streams and extinct species, right? Wrong!

As a matter of fact, man is a piker as a polluter according to John McKetta, a professor of engineering at the University of Texas.

McKetta, a professor of engineering at the University of Texas, said, for instance, that in spite of all the smoke spewed into the air by factory, smokestacks, automobile exhausts and burning sugar cane fields, they don't match the eruptions of three volcanoes on three occasions.

He said the eruptions of Krakatoa, east of Java, in 1883, Mt. Karmal in Alaska in 1912 and Hecla in Iceland in 1947, all by themselves, put more pollution in the air than mankind in all the centuries since he discovered fire.

Almost sounds like blasphemy, doesn't it? But McKetta doesn't stop there.

How about DDT? Now everyone knows DDT, if we continue to use it, will eventually rub out every living thing on the face of the earth, right?

Not true. McKetta quotes the World Health Organization as estimating 100 million human beings who are living today wouldn't be if it weren't for DDT and similar pesticides, and that's only because of diseases they didn't catch, that's not referring to the increased food production the chemicals allow.

He also points out that recent tests indicate the thinning of bird eggshells, which have been causing such concerns over the past several years, may have been caused by mercury compounds instead of DDT.

And so far as man killing off too many species, McKetta points out what most zoologists have been saying for some time; about 50 species of animals die out every century and they have been for quite a while. That's simply a part of evolution. An estimated 100 million species through all of earth's inhabited life are now extinct.

So what does it all add up to? If I people keep hollering about impending doom being caused by man-triggered ecological disaster, who's going to believe them when they holler about the real thing?

Let's stop crying wolf until we see one.

The Second Quarterly Conference of the West Miami District Business session was held on Friday evening at the Mt. Zion A.M.E. Church, Rev. Charles Robinson Pastor. The Presiding Elder, S. A. Cousin, was in charge. The Pastor, Rev. Robinson, led the devotion after which Presiding Elder Cousin went through the business of the church where all boards and clubs made their quarterly reports.

Sunday morning began with the young adults choir and ushers serving by singing Hymn 45. After which Mrs. Shirley Morris led "I made a vow to the Lord" and she asked the question, "Did you make a vow?"

The Presiding Elder, brought us a wonderful message concerning how deep is God's love or Let God's love abide or floor your soul. He told us that God loved us so that he has 99 of his sheep in the fold and one was gone astray that he will not be satisfied until the lost one is found and safely in the fold.

Love your enemies, love your neighbor for anyone can love his friend.

The presiding elder called all officers of the Stewards, Stewardesses, Trustees and Commission on Stewards to come around the altar where he confirmed them for this year's work and the pastor presented each with a certificate.

The Missionary Department, under the leadership, rendered the evening services at 6 p.m. The young adult choir rendered the songs and ladies of the church portrayed some of the queens of the Bible.

Mrs. Hertha Evan was Eve; Mrs. Margaret Poole was Sarah; Mrs. Corene Ghent was the Samaritan woman at the well. Mrs. Judy Vereen was Ruth; Mrs. Rosa Stevenson was Naomi; Mrs. Gladys Tucker was Jezebel; Mrs. Maude Vereen was Herodias and Mrs. Shirley Morris was Salome.

The members of the church really enjoyed the way the ladies presented these queens and we learned a lot about the queens of the Bible.

Mrs. Rosa Stevenson informed me that after 31 years, she and her sister found each other again. What a great reunion! Mrs. Stevenson's sister is Mrs. Minnie L. Carver of Delray Beach.

There will be a cake walk at the Okeechobee Center Saturday night and you are invited to come.

Mr. Jake Gaither of Tallahassee will be our guest speaker at a banquet on Feb. 7 at the Lake Shore Junior High School cafeteria. You may purchase a ticket from any member of the Mt. Zion Church.

Just how would you feel if a man came between you and your daughter? Good question. Well, I didn't have one but three (smile). After my daughter invited me to visit the circus with her, two days later, she informed me that she was sorry but she was taking the boys instead of me. Darian, 2, Cedric and Darian (Peanut), both four years of age. But they came back so excited, even though the weather was cold. They couldn't care less. Until next week, love and peace, cheer and happiness.

Everglades Fed. announces growth

At year-end 1975 the assets of Everglades Federal Savings & Loan Association reached $45,097,266. This was an encouraging 19.17% over a year ago, Charles B. Trammel, Jr., Executive Vice President reported today.

Everglades Federal paid a record amount of interest to its savings depositors, $2,325,973, and added $314,325 to its reserve fund, bringing up the total reserves and surplus to $4,192,227 amounting to 10.7% of total Savings Capital.

While savings deposits were generally up for this year, Charles Trammel, of Everglades Federal said, "we were contending with a continuation of the inflation, the recession and a tendency in the latter part of the year for our savers to seek investments paying a higher rate." Trammel said that during 1975 there was a general uncertainty on the part of the American public; they actually didn't know whether to spend or to save.

"We look forward to our Bicentennial year, 1976, and hope that the new year will bring us some respite in our economic problems and that we will receive enough savings deposits to allow us to take care of the mortgage lending needs of this community." Total mortgage loans made during the year by Everglades Federal were more than $7,538,449.00.

"We have paid and are now paying on our savings accounts and certificates of deposit the highest rates ever and the highest allowed by law," Trammel said.

"All in all, 1975 was a good year for this association, and hopefully the new year will also turn out to be a year of progress."

Everglades Federal is now seeking permission to open a branch office in Clewiston. Although 1975 was a year of change, through the professional approach with a personal touch, Everglades Federal met the Challenge.

An estimated 450 CB radio operators gathered on the side Saturday at the Belle Glade Marina, defying chilly winds to hold a "breaker." While most of those present came from the Belle Glade, South Bay and Pahokee areas, some were present from West Palm Beach, Tampa and Miami, including one group who came from Loxahatchee in a convoy. Besides talking shop and buying nametags bearing their personalized "handles", the CB'ers dined quantities of fried fish with all the "fixins'" and danced until after midnight to the music of the "Southern Gentlemen."

Your electric bill is higher largely because our fuel oil bill has tripled, to over a million dollars a day.

Even though we're using less fuel oil.

Three years ago it cost us $334,000 a day for the fuel oil we used to generate electricity.

Today, the price per barrel of oil has tripled. Which means our costs have tripled to over a million dollars a day. A million dollars a day — even though we're using less fuel oil than we did three years ago. (35 million barrels in 1972 vs 32 million for the 12 months ending October, 1975.) This reduction in oil consumption is due to increased reliance on nuclear-generated power.

The skyrocketing cost of fuel oil is a major factor in the cost of producing electricity. Indeed, fuel now amounts to 59% of our total operating costs.

The result has been a sharp increase in your electric bill. For the increase in fuel oil costs is reflected in your fuel adjustment charge.

All of that charge goes to pay for the increased cost of fuel. FPL doesn't keep a cent of that money.

We aren't any happier than you are about the increases which the fuel crisis has caused. But we are gratified that we have been able to keep them from going higher. With the use of nuclear-generated power.

In fact, last year, nuclear-generated power saved our customers over 161 million dollars in fuel oil costs. And we're building more nuclear power plants to hold fuel costs down even more. For nuclear power is the least expensive source of energy available to us today.

So, next time you get your bill, think about our bill. We're working to keep both of them down.

Work-at-home ads may not be legitimate

Persons who are unable to pursue part-time jobs outside the home, but are anxious to supplement the family income are often drawn to work-at-home advertisements. Some claims are legitimate, but others offer nothing in the way of financial gain.

One characteristic of the unscrupulous work at home scheme is that the promoter will request money for merchandise or instructions before giving full details on the proposition. Steer clear of such "bargains."

Some things the unscrupulous work-at-home promoter will do are:

1. Promise you terrific part time earnings.
2. Never offer you a regular salary.
3. Use personal testimonials from unidentified persons.
4. Assure you of a large market for your handmade goods.
5. Tell you — you don't need any experience!
6. Request money from you before telling you anything.
7. Take your money gladly.

Raiders have chance at Suncoast (West) championship

The Glades Central High School Raiders romped through two basketball games last week and eased through another Tuesday night to set up an outside chance at the Suncoast West championship. The Tuesday game against Suncoast was an even match through the end of the third period, with a 50-50 score. At that time, but the Raiders gained a 5-point advantage in the final period to go ahead, 69-64.

The difference in the final period, according to Coach Jay Seider, was that the Charger defense was switched from a zone to a man-to-man and the Raiders were able to get behind them and score a couple of easy baskets.

"We won it," Seider said, "but it could have been easier. It shouldn't have been that close but we didn't have a really good game. The kids may have let down after last week."

Michael Pringle led the Raider scoring with a 26-point night, along with 18 rebounds. He was followed by double-figure scorers William Likely, with 15 points and 8 rebounds, and Melvin Stevenson, with 14 points and 3 rebounds.

Other scorers were Patrick Collier, with 6 points and 12 rebounds, T. J. Salter and Harvey McGriff, with 4 points and 2 rebounds each, and Anthony Burger with 2 points.

Pringle was the story in the Raider's 86-57 shelling of Cardinal Newman, with a 64 senior setting school records in scoring and rebounds and virtually proved to be a one-man wrecking crew.

Pringle sank almost as many baskets as the entire Newman team as he racked up 40 points and took over 25 rebounds. The previous Glades Central records were 38 points and 22 rebounds.

"Mike scored a number of his points on rebounds," Seider said. "He just took over the rebounds and went."

Fishing time again

With deer season over for another year and the guns going back on the rack, local Florida fishermen are reaching for their rods and taking off to Lake Okechobee where the action is now.

January, February and March are "the months on the big lake if bass is your bag, according to Lt. Ross Parsons of the Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission.

"Now is the time to put five pounders out of Okechobee with reports of several 10-pounders being caught each week," Parsons said.

Parsons said the big bow bass are on the move and the water level is down, both adding up to favorable conditions for big bass fishing.

Many of the anglers on the lake at this time of the year are shooting for the big one, a bass to break the record caught in 1971. That was the 19-pound, 4-ounce bass J. J. Shaw of West Palm Beach caught along the northeast shore of Okechobee.

right back up to score. He also had eight steals, three assists and three blocked shots. They couldn't stop him on the inside.

Pringle's effort in the Newman game earned him the Athlete of the Week spot, appearing on Channel 5 TV Monday evening.

Everybody on the Raider team scored against Newman but the other team members were led by Stevenson with 12 points and McGriff with 10.

Salter scored 7, Collier made 5 points and 6 rebounds. Likely scored 4 points and pulled in 3 rebounds. Alonzo Perkins made 4 and Clyde Ward, Burger and Gary Williamson made 2 points each.

No fewer than five Raiders scored in double figures Saturday night against Lake Wales as the Glades Central five racked up an 82-59 win.

In that game, Williams Likely led the scoring with 18 points and 4 rebounds. Stevenson followed with 17 points and 3 rebounds. Pringle with 15 points and 15 rebounds. Collier with 10 and 10 and McGriff with 10 points and 7 rebounds.

Single figure scorers were Salter with 8 points and 2 rebounds and Burger and Perkins with 2 each.

Crusaders losing battle of close ones

The Christian Day School Crusaders' record now stands at 1-5 for the year but Coach Mike Sullivan says their record could have been 5-0 with a few breaks and a little more scoring.

"We have not lost a game more than seven points with the exception of Glades Day and we have always had a poor quarter in which we cannot seem to score well at all."

A 39-32 loss to Fort Myers Canterbury started the season. The Crusaders went into the last quarter tied but could not put the ball in the basket in the final eight minutes.

Losses to Boca Raton Academy 35-30 and to Jupiter Christian 63-61 followed. "We played well offensively against Jupiter but forgot about defense," Sullivan said.

Since the Christmas break the Crusaders are 1-2, picking up their first victory of the season against Indian River 50-38.

Losses to Glades Day, 66-37, and Palm Cove, 34-31, followed the victory. Another poor scoring quarter led to the close defeat at the hands of Palm Cove.

In the Crusaders' first six games, Terry Steele was the leading scorer with a 15 point average per game. Allen Bowen, Hughly Arce and Bret Conway lead the way in rebounding for the Crusaders.

"I believe with a little more experience and more time playing together and we can turn around these losses," Sullivan said. "We must play better defense when the score is close and not give up the big basket."

Gators blast Jupiter

A burst of power in the final minutes of the first half gave the Glades Day Gators the lead they needed to win their second basketball game of the season last Friday at Gator Gym.

The team work of the Echave brothers, Jorge and Quique, kept Jupiter Christian in sight.

Slow start for Gators

The Glades Day cagers suffered two losses last week, one at the hands of Lake Placid High School, 99-58, and one from Everglades City, 73-49.

The losses brought the team their third miss in the first week of their basketball season.

The Gators fell behind 57-19 in the first half of the Lake Placid game last Tuesday. Although Gator Jorge Echave led both teams in scoring with 27 points, his teammates were unable to back him up with baskets of their own.

The Gators lost again on Friday, January 9, in a home game against Everglades City. The loss brought Glades Day their third loss in three games and raised Everglades City to 8-0. Jorge Echave led both teams in scoring with 20 points.

Seven Gators chosen to All-State team

Seven members of the Glades Day School football team were chosen All-State in Class 1A by the Florida Sports Writers Association announced Gator head coach Riley Foster.

Although the honor usually goes to seniors, three Glades Day underclassmen were chosen this year. The All-State players are Bill Thompson, senior, linebacker; Kenny Buckner, 10th grade, line backer and place kicker; Mike Penuel, senior, defensive tackle; Mitch Crissman, 11th grade, halfback; Danny Kirchman, 11th grade, defensive back; Johnny Youngblood, senior, defensive end; and Juan Barz, senior, offensive tackle.

"Naturally I'm pleased. All of them are deserving. They were all team leaders," said Foster.

Well, that's the end of that! Super Bowl X is now a thing of the past that no telling how long the talk's gonna last and the Pittsburgh Steelers have become the third team in Super Bowl history to win back-to-back Super Bowls. Yep, it's pretty commonplace now for a team to win two consecutive Bowls. All you can say now is "Well, there's another one that's made it when the next football season begins."

The Steelers have an edge on the Miami Dolphins and the Green Bay Packers, however, they're in the number one slot to be the first team to become World Champions three times in a row. Food for thought, huh?

Getting to the game itself, it did have a little more class than any of the previous ones - at least one team didn't dominate. I thought Dallas might pull it out all the way to the end, when they were between a half and three quarters of the way to the goal and Roger "The Dodger" who wasn't too successful with his dodging that day was thrown out of the game in the desperate hope they would be able to pull it out the way they did with Minnesota over four weeks has it been that long?

Attempts were futile, however, with a Pittsburgh player "stealing" the ball after the clock had run out on the last play.

I believe with a little more experience and more time playing together and we can turn around these losses," Sullivan said. "We must play better defense when the score is close and not give up the big basket."

The team will play 10 more games:

This new jug does two things. It gives you fewer jugs to handle than the 1 gallon size. And it's only half the weight of the 5 gallon jug, obviously.

Not so obvious is the fact it empties in 15 seconds and it's completely burnable, for easy disposal.

Raiders are Suncoast Conference wrestling champs

The Glades Central High School wrestling team came out of a slump to win the Suncoast Conference (West) Championship Meet at Atlantic High School, Delray Beach, Sat., Jan. 17.

Glades Central competed against five other area high schools - Cardinal Newman, Pahokee, Suncoast and Atlantic.

into the ground and the former for dragging the player off the Cowboy and not throwing a penalty flag. Never seen anything like it - an official literally dragging a player off another and not penalizing him for unsportsmanlike conduct. Most of them act as if they never saw the act being done. Understand there were a few records set during the game: 1) Dallas broke the kickoff return record when they surprised the Steelers and the fans with their reverse for a return of 52 yards; 2) it was the first time both teams managed to score in the opening quarter of the game; 3) Wide Receiver Lynn Swann tic for the championship. "We started the season real good winning three in a row, but we lost the next four," said Coach Jesse White. "The team worked hard and pulled together for the championship meet. I was really surprised at how well they did," the coach commented.

Con't from P 7

(Most Valuable Player of the game) caught four receptions for a record 161 yards and 4 Dallas quarterback Roger Staubach got sacked seven times in a set new record. There's gotta be a word said for Lynn Swann, who was voted the Most Valuable Player of the game. He deserved it with some of those catches, flying for a couple of them and that one which he managed to grab as he and Dallas tackle Mark Washington were falling down to the turf should be framed. Anyone who can keep that much concentration on a catch deserves something.

There are twenty-two eligible wrestlers on the team, but only twelve can wrestle in one match. Elimination bouts are held the week prior to the match to decide which twelve will wrestle.

"The varsity team changes every match," explained White.

All eleven Glades Central wrestlers who participated in the meet reached at least third place. The school took five 3rd places, two 2nds and four 1sts.

White singled out seniors Lester Finney and Eddie Lawrence and 10th grader Carlos Rosario for their wrestling performances this year. Finney is normally in the 170 lb. weight class but he wrestled in the 188 range at the championship meet and still took first place. The Glades Central wrestlers face four more matches before competing in the District meet in Marietta County, Feb. 13. This is White's second year as head wrestling coach at Glades Central. He is assisted by former Glades Central wrestler, Anthony (Chicken) Wilson, on a volunteer basis.

Students whistle for assembly line work

As he enters the busy factory, the visitor is approached by the plant foreman who asks him to sign in and issues him a pair of industrial goggles. This factory, with the whining of machinery and the constant movement of people, is like most other factories with one exception.

The workers are seventh graders and their factory is the industrial arts classroom at Lake Shore Junior High School in Belle Glade.

Their product is a fully guaranteed wooden whistle.

Beginning as a plain piece of wood, the whistle moves rapidly along the assembly line by way of wooden chutes. Large pieces of wood are sawed into smaller sections and then hollowed out by a drill press operator. The wood rapidly takes the shape of a whistle as it moves from person to person until it reaches the "Quality Control Department" where each whistle is checked. The final product goes to the "Packing Department" where the whistles are packaged with instructions and a guarantee.

"We try to make things which are inexpensive but which give the kids a learning experience in many different areas," said the instructor. "They really like the whistles," he added.

Students also have a chance to compare assembly line work with producing custom made products; and surprisingly, they like the assembly line better according to George.

The students work with wood and plastic and learn elementary industrial skills such as reading a ruler and operating machinery like the drill press.

The industrial arts course is one segment of the "pre-vocational wheel" of classes for 7th graders at Lake Shore Junior High. The wheel is divided into four areas each lasting nine weeks — agriculture, American industry, business careers and home economic occupations.

The seventh grade courses are designed to "orient" the student to many different occupations said George. In the eighth grade, students choose one area of concentration for "exploratory" courses.

"We've had great response to this program from the kids," he said.

George has taught in Palm Beach County for three years, the last two at Lake Shore Junior High School. He is currently collaborating an industrial arts instructors manual for the Palm Beach County school system.

City, FCD marina agreement nears

An agreement to triple the size of the Belle Glade City Marina on Torrey Island was tentatively approved last Thursday according to City Manager George Knoblock and the final version is expected to be hammered out in about three weeks time.

The City Commission gave its final approval to the agreement during a work session Thursday, the last of several sessions in which the commissioners have talked over the marina enlargement.

existing marina, water distribution and sanitary sewage collection system, the connecting bridge, comfort stations and landscaping.

The last stage, due to be done in 1978-79, includes the reconstruction of two comfort stations, the north section of the existing marina and connection to the sewer system, a foot bridge, docks and miscellaneous structures and landscaping.

In one hour the class of 22 students produced 49 whistles — one every minute and 22 seconds.

The idea is to help the student understand the concept of mass production," explained industrial arts teacher John George.

Besides whistles, students in George's class have produced spice racks and

Twin sisters named to FSU honor roll

Twin sisters from Belle Glade must have beaten long odds recently when both of them were named to the Dean's list for the fall quarter at Florida State University.

Jackie Lee and Kathy J. Bridges, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Henry O. Bridges of 541 S.W. Third St., were two of three Belle Glade students who appeared on the fall listing, along with Emilio Echave, son of Emilio R. Echave of 209 S.E. Ave. H.

The three students were among 3,046 students at Tallahassee university whose grade average B or A earned them a spot on the list.

The marina will be enlarged to 42.72 acres according to the agreement with the South and Central Florida Flood Control District (FCD), to keep it from being flooded when the level of Lake Okeechobee is raised from 15.5 to 17.5 feet.

The city recreation area is one of only three parcels of land on Torrey Island the FCD hasn't acquired title to and the district proposed the expansion and raising the level of the marina in exchange for the city's title to the land.

Once the title is transferred to the FCD, and the level of the marina is raised, the city will lease the area for a nominal sum and maintain it as a recreational area.

In the meantime, FCD officials are conferring with attorneys representing Slim's and J-Mark's Fish Camps in an effort to come to an agreement over the other two parcels of land on the island not owned by the FCD.

Owners of the two camps are attempting to make an agreement with the agency to allow them to stay in business. They own the only fish camps inside Hoover Dike and are in the unique position of being the only private landowners within the dike.

The FCD is planning to spend an estimated $2.4 million to improve and raise the level of the city marina in four stages which will be completed by 1978 according to the agreement.

Knoblock said the schedule set for the stages of work by the FCD is already running behind but the target dates for completion of the stages are still tentative.

The first stage will be earthwork on roadways and drainage facilities, installation of a sewage pumping station and force main and sewer connections to existing comfort stations, due for completion in 1975-76.

The second increment will be more earthwork, water distribution and sanitary sewage collection system as well as a connecting bridge, a boat ramp, the pavilion, a fish cleaning station, comfort stations and landscaping. It is to be completed in 1976 and 77.

In 1977-78, the third stage is scheduled to be completed, including more earthwork on the north section of the

El Dorado Civic Club sponsors circus visit

A group of 40 children from the Belle Glade area saw The Greatest Show on Earth Saturday as the guests of the El Dorado Civic Club, who sponsored a bus trip to the Ringling Brothers, Barnum and Bailey Circus in West Palm Beach.

Mrs. Byrd said she, Mrs. Lottie Freeman, Mrs. Dorothy Glaze, Mrs. Kay F. Newkirk and Mrs. Gloria Whitely chaperoned the children on their outing.

Rev. Castor accepts new church

The Rev. Abe S. Castor, pastor of the Everglades Presbyterian Church, has accepted a call to serve as pastor of First Presbyterian Church of Zephyrhills, effective Feb. 1.

Rev. Castor requested dissolution of his pastoral relationship with the Everglades Presbyterian Church at the January meeting of Everglades Presbytery held at Moorings Presbyterian Church of Naples. He will be received into Westminster Presbytery of the Presbyterian Church, U.S., at its meeting, Jan. 27th, at North Fort Myers. His duties at First Presbyterian Church of Zephyrhills begin with services on Feb. 1.

As pastor of the Zephyrhills First Presbyterian Church, Rev. Castor will head a staff of seven persons, including a minister of music and two youth directors. He will preach for two morning services with a combined attendance of 500, which exceeds the church membership of 320.

He will lead the congregation in a building program to provide additional educational facilities and a fellowship hall. The Zephyrhills church has a strong youth program and a new parsonage, and was seeking a younger minister with a family to occupy the new parsonage. Rev. Castor, 39, has four children, and has had previous experience in children's and youth work.

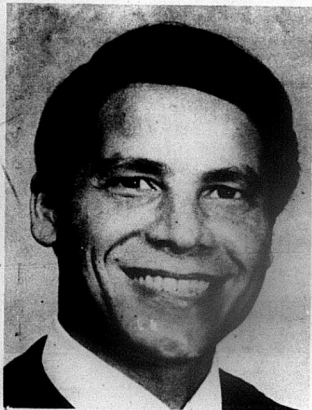

The Rev. Abe Castor has served the Everglades Presbyterian Church since August, 1973. During his pastorate here, 40 members were received into the church, including children received as non-communing members. A Sunday Night Service was established with a strong Biblical emphasis, and special evangelistic services were held for the first time in many years. Record attendances were made on special occasions such as the Good Friday Community Services, and a Recognition Service for Mrs. Katherine Price, one of the congregation's founders. Under Rev. Castor's leadership, the church also hosted Everglades Presbytery attended by over 125 delegates from through South Florida.

Active in community activities, Rev. Castor served as Instructor of Spanish for St. Peter's Lutheran School, was organizing chairman for special services of the Belle Glade Ministerial Association, was the Baccalaureate speaker for Glades Central High School in 1975, and also the featured speaker for the Spanish Class Program at St. Philip Catholic Church.

He also participated in the psychology program at Glades Correctional Institution, and was well-known to the congregations of many denominations.

Rev. Castor, a graduate of Houghton College (N.Y.) and Emory University, was pastor of Christ Church, Tampa, and Sellers Memorial Church, Miami, prior to serving in Belle Glade.

Linnis to speak at Christian Science

Individual freedom, that really lasts depends upon an understanding of spiritual law, Roy J. Linnis, C.S.B., will tell an audience in Belle Glade on Sunday.

In the search for individual freedom Linnis will say, "we often encounter a paradox. We find ourselves in bonds just when we believe we're free! Why have freedom in a mistaken sense of what freedom is."

A Christian Science teacher and lecturer from Chicago, Linnis will speak at 3:15 p.m. Sunday in the Civic Center at the invitation of First Church of Christ, Scientist.

Mrs. Gayle Palmer will introduce the lecturer. Ms. Jessie Freeling is handling local arrangements for the event.

Linnis will tell of a young man who found freedom from the use of hallucinatory drugs through an understanding of spiritual law.

"Man under spiritual law" he will state, "enjoys true freedom always, not only physical freedom, but mental, moral, and spiritual freedom as well."

A former businessman, he entered the public practice of Christian Science healing in 1953. He was appointed to The Christian Science Board of Lecturers in 1963, and seven years later became a teacher of Christian Science.

"You're a Freeman!" is the title of his local lecture. It is open to the public without charge.

BOY---then MAN

That's my son, Jerry, literally two feet off the ground last Saturday in the top half of the ninth. His team was ahead by one run and the bases loaded when he caught the fly that ended the game.

Whatever else good happens to Jerry, I know he'll never forget that sweet thrill of victory.

Years from now, when faced with a tough situation, that memory could be the inspiration for another triumph. The things that happen to a boy do shape the man.

That's why I've always taken Jerry to our church. I want the smell of candles on the altar, the blend of voice and heart in hymn and litany, to be a part of his life. I want for him the joy that comes from understanding God. My father did the same for me.

How about you?

General Washington attends party

By Jerome Turk & Wm. D. Ellis
CAMBRIDGE, MASS., Jan. 24, 1776-J. Turk & self were allowed present this evening at a important dinner (will explain why important) at house of Gen'l Washington's aide, the elegant, personable Pennsylvanian, Col. Thomas Mifflin.

Gen'l Washington, Gen'l Horatio Gates, the great John Adams & their ladies were present as well as some six Cocknowoga Tribe Sachems & warriors & women. The Gen'l introduced Adams to the Indians as "one of the Grand Council Fire at Philadelphia." They bowed. Many times.

In light of each night's increasingly bad news received at the Gen'l's headquarters across the road, the conversation at this night's supper might rank as routine. That is, except for one subject also being discussed at thousands of other tables this night.

Though Turk had somehow worked his way up close to the Adames & the Gen'l, I was at the farthest distance the room allowed. But by some phenomenon, Washington's presence reaches every corner.

While we know the Gen'l's actual combat experience is limited to a few brief if hot engagements, yet as he strides through the crowd—always a head higher, always with great dignity—there seems an aura of faded guidons flapping in wisps of burnt powder.

As the Gen'l passes, the talkers become aware they've lost their listeners. Even when he is seated in a large babbling room listening to a single person, all others seem unconsciously to orient themselves by a twist of a chair or a glance in his direction.

I personally know how most of us once-hostile Yankee soldiers now honor this Southerner. That's in spite of these past six months in which he has disciplined us under the lash, court-martialed officers & bung deserters.

I marveled how he sat seemingly unperturbed, even cordial, at table—with fresh news of the American disaster at Quebec, the burning of Norfolk by Lord Dunmore Jan. 1 & current enlistment reports 15,000 short of the need for confronting Sir William Howe's Lobster Backs in Boston.

Still, the thing under discussion may outweigh all that—the anonymous pamphlet, Common Sense. Speculation continues about its authorship, but Turk is sure it's the work of Thomas Paine.

The incendiary words of the book spread like grassfire. Printers are setting type, issuing & selling their own versions. Copies pass hand-to-hand until mutilated, readers flip out favorite pages. "Paine, poor fool, will probably receive little money for his important work," claims Turk.

And here tonight, Gen'l Washington, who like most men of his background once refused to speak of separation from England, said "I find Common Sense is working a powerful change in the minds of men." This change seems to include the Gen'l himself, with the book encouraging him to speak openly of thoughts he has surely kept most private till now.

For the first time, according to his staff, the Gen'l is using damning words to describe George III & British officials—"a tyrant & his diabolical ministry." It is clear the commander-in-chief now favors independence. Sprightly Abigail Adams is bluntly converted by the book for independence, "all clear-thinking men must now see."

Her husband, John Adams, is the surprise. He exhortates the book—not the plea for independence, but all else including the author, "a star of disaster." He sees whoever wrote it as a characterless, hypocritical person who copied all the good sentiments, phrases & ideas from listening at Congress "to such as myself." The religious partisans of Adams dawns as "ridiculous, but whether they proceed from honest ignorance or...knaveish hypocrisy I know not." As to the author's suggestions on how to form a government, Adams believes these "flow from simple ignorance or a mere desire to please the democratic party in Philadelphia."

Adams so dreads the effect "the pamphlets having among the people" that he intends to "do everything in my power to counteract it." He plans to write his own version of ways to set up an independent government.

"Adams will probably write an excellent book," Turk observed to me later. "His ideas will be far-sighted & practical—but he will never capture the minds of men like that brandy-soaked colleague of ours, Paine, back in Philadelphia."

Income tax advice

One way to hold down income taxes is to claim all the "justments" to income to which you are entitled.

What is the difference between an adjustment and a deduction? Very little, except that adjustments are applied to gross income rather than to adjusted gross, and thus are taken even if you use the standard deduction.

The principal adjustments to income are:

- Sick pay.
- Moving expenses.
- Certain employee business expenses.
- Job-related education expenses.
- Depreciation of property used in business.
- Contributions to tax deferred retirement plans.

Whether and to what extent the pay you received while out sick or injured can be excluded from income depends on a number of factors, including the existence of an established, employer-financed sick pay plan, the length of time you were absent and whether you were hospitalized for part of the absence. In any case, the most that is tax exempt is $100 a week.

The rules covering sick pay are too extensive for full explanation here; if you are affected you'll want to research the subject further or have it done for you. Use IRS form 2440.

Any workmen's compensation you may have received is fully exempt from tax, as are damages for injuries or illness, insurance benefits for health insurance on which you paid

Tea Topics

By David and Eunice Bigelow
Who thinks of tea as only a woman's drink? Rough riding Teddy Roosevelt loved mint tea. John Kennedy liked his tea extra-lemony and President Ford's special favorite was speed tea. The
R. C. Bigelow Company blends flavorful teas for men (and women!) of today. Constant Comment, the famous blend with orange and sweet spice, is America's most popular specialty tea. Or try the aromatic Lemon Lift, really blended with natural lemon, or Plantation Mint, a minty tea that's as fresh and delicate as a spring breeze.

Reduced production of pork bellies, and declining inventories, contributed to record high prices in 1975 before consumer resistance, and a larger than expected seasonal recovery in cold storage holdings in the late fall, pared extreme gains sharply. Mrs. Jones said American cookery began 350 years ago as Indian cuisine was melded with the immigrating European styles of cooking.

The ingenuity of our forefathers, their establishment of food preparation methods still used today, and the relevance of the nutritional habits to our modern society will be stressed in the presentation," Mrs. Jones said.

Because many of our employees are dedicated career public servants with many years of toiling in the public interest, but half of them have reached the maximum in their pay range, without an increase in salary even in the face of rampaging inflation. The Legislature seems receptive to the idea of some pay increase across the board. It would be most welcome.

When consideration is given to the fact that about half of our revenue derives from the regulated industry, it is apparent that a meat-and-potatoes approach to budget-cutting is not in the public interest.
